- Last week's testing and inspection of the sewer lines found several areas along King Street from Market to Broad Streets that will require repairs to be made prior to the sewer re-lining process. These repairs may begin next week and continue through the week of July 7th. Businesses affected by this work will be notified next week in order to provide impact information.
- Non-invasive layout work continues next week in preparation for the electrical conduit ductbank project set to begin the week of July 7th on Horlbeck Alley. This project consists of installing a transformer pad, laying conduit and linking it to the housing unit near the King Street – Horlbeck Alley intersection. Because this street will be closed from King Street to just in front of the entrance to the Market-Horlbeck Lot, traffic will be detoured further down King Street to Broad Street to Meeting Street and back to Horlbeck Alley. Traffic control and signage will provide assistance to traffic. This work will take approximately four weeks to complete.
- Deliveries of materials for the Streetscape project will be ongoing. Delivery vehicles will drop off electrical, sewer and water conduit pipes of various sizes, manholes, inlet grates, bluestone, granite curbing and traffic signalization equipment. Every effort will be made to stack and store these materials in work areas as compactly as possible and use them as quickly as possible.
- Please begin making plans to remove planters, benches, window boxes and other such items from the sidewalk.
- E-mail addresses continue to be added to the group list. Contact us if you would like to receive the flyer in this manner as well, and if you know of others that need to receive the flyer via e-mail.
